U.S. Preventive Medicine® Receives Full URAC Disease Management Accreditation

DALLAS, TX and JACKSONVILLE, (August 19, 2009) — U.S. Preventive Medicine® announced today that it has been awarded full Disease Management Accreditation from URAC, a Washington, DC-based health care accrediting organization that establishes quality standards for the health care industry.

“We are extremely pleased to go through this reaccreditation process and be in full compliance with the standards set forth by URAC,” said Judy White, Executive Vice President of Health Services at U.S. Preventive Medicine. “Our team consistently goes above and beyond, which was reflected in the scrutiny of our personnel, technology, policies, records, contracts, security and other critical qualifications.”

U.S. Preventive Medicine provides integrated prevention, early disease detection and chronic condition management to consumers, employers, government agencies and other organizations throughout the United States. These primary, secondary and tertiary preventive services are based on the clinical discipline of preventive medicine to offer a full continuum of prevention solutions.

“By applying for and receiving Disease Management Accreditation, U.S. Preventive Medicine has demonstrated a commitment to quality health care,” said Alan P. Spielman, URAC president and CEO. “Quality health care is crucial to our nation’s welfare and it is important to have organizations that are willing to measure themselves against national standards.”

URAC, an independent, nonprofit organization, is a leader in promoting health care quality through accreditation and certification programs. URAC's standards keep pace with the rapid changes in the health care system, and provide a mark of distinction for health care organizations to demonstrate their commitment to quality and accountability. Through its broad-based governance structure and an inclusive standards development process, URAC ensures that all stakeholders are represented in setting meaningful standards for the health care industry.
